

Instant Translate

Questionmark's ITCC award-winning translation tool.

Education is a human right, and learning opportunities should be equitable, inclusive, and accessible to all. That's why we've developed our Instant Translate tool to make it easier for people to take a test in a language that is not native to them.

Questionmark's award winning new translation tool gives individuals the ability to view a machine translation of their test content 'on the fly', selecting and translating text as they progress through the test.

With this tool, test publishers get an easy to deploy, rapid and cost-effective approach to be fairer to non-native speakers, ultimately making their tests more inclusive for all.

Why translation matters:

- 7 million US residents speak a foreign language at home
- There are over 100,000 multinational companies around the world
- ~12% in range of developed countries of adults are non-native speakers
- Migrants get significantly lower literacy and numeracy test scores than native speakers

The benefits:

Fair and inclusive

Helping individuals succeed, and helping organizations deliver on their diversity and inclusion goals

Cost-effective

Avoid costly full translations and put the power into test takers hands

Supports growth

Deliver assessments in new markets across the globe

Flexible

Turn the tool on and off per assessment depending on your needs

Wide reach

Available in 21 languages

Sources: OECD Skills on the Move, Migrants in the Survey of Adult Skills (2018)