

Three pillars of business planning in uncertain times

Ensuring plans are based on real knowledge of workforce skills

Surviving

Making good decisions when a crisis strikes

Adapting

Ensuring workers have the agility to adapt to new realities

Thriving

Laying the foundations for future success by retaining and recruiting the best staff

Read our report: “the myth of certainty: creating agility in the workforce and developing meaningful business plans”

Questionmark: measuring workforce skills

www.questionmark.com